

From January 2010,
FRANCE 24
will be running HR Access's outsourced HR solution

Paris, 1 September 2009 –FRANCE 24, the 24-hour international news channel, has selected HR Access, the international Human Resources Management software publisher and Human Resources Outsourcing service provider, to implement an outsourced Human Resources Information System.

Its aim is to ensure it has a high-performance HR information system with the capacity to manage the diverse range of people within the group, and which can be implemented quickly in order to be up and running by January 2010.

Launched in December 2006, FRANCE 24 is the leading news channel providing continuous international coverage from a French point of view and perspective. FRANCE 24 is a comprehensive information platform, broadcasting its programmes on the air and via the Internet in three languages (English, French and Arabic).

A subsidiary of Audiovisuel Extérieur de la France (AEF), FRANCE 24 released an invitation to tender in accordance with French public procurement regulations to identify a reliable partner and a solution that could help to support it in managing its 650 permanent and temporary employees from January 2010 onwards.

HR Access' reputation and understanding of the media sector were key factors in the channel's decision to work with the HR specialist.

"We particularly appreciated the expertise of the project teams and their level of motivation in the pre-sales phase: we were not simply looking for a firm that could provide outsourcing services, but a partner that would keep to its commitments and the agreed deadlines and which would offer us real support. Meeting the project manager and being able to work through the major stages in the project with him ahead of time gave us the sense that this was a serious proposal and reassured us as to HR Access' professionalism and commitment," explains Béatrice Le Fouest, HR Director at France 24.

Other key factors that influenced FRANCE 24's decision were the scalability of the solution and the flexibility of the proposed outsourcing services. "As a seasoned user of outsourced management services, FRANCE 24 is demanding when it comes to the services it expects and defining the associated indicators. Thanks to its HR Access Employee Services solution, HR Access has been able to offer us a comprehensive range of flexible services," continues Jean-Yves Bonsergent.
